Congratulations!

As a representative of one of the 10 southeastern states, your community theatre is invited to participate in the SETC Community Theatre Festival during SETC's Annual Convention, March 1-5, 2017, in Lexington, KY.

In addition to the three-day festival, individuals seeking on-stage or off-stage employment should apply for SETC's Professional Auditions or Theatre Job Fair. Students continuing their theatre study can apply to colleges or seek scholarships through SETC. Explore www.setc.org for a wide variety of events and workshops during the Annual Convention.

This year, since 2017 is an AACTFest year, SETC's two advancing productions will get the honor of representing our region at the National AACTFest 2017 in Rochester, MN, June 26 – July 1. For our Festival, as always, we will follow AACT guidelines, a copy of which may be downloaded here: <http://www.aact.org/festival-handbook>. We are available to answer any questions or to assist with any special issues your production might have.

Forms, fees and information about your troop and community theatre should be emailed to Claire Wisniewski at claire@setc.org.

Early registration (with discounted rates) ends on December 16. Regular registration is open through January 27, 2017. SETC Membership is required for ALL Community Theatre Festival participants including the Organization, Director, and individual participants.
